FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Mississippi Public Service Commission Launches Gas Safety Campaign

JACKSON, MS (December 9, 2024)— At their monthly open meeting on December 3, 2024, the Mississippi Public Service Commissioners announced the launch of a new statewide Gas Safety Campaign aimed at enhancing public safety and promoting awareness of gas safety protocols, encouraging the public to remember: If you smell gas, call 911.

Through the creation of educational resources and vital partnerships with local fire departments, gas utilities, and safety organizations across Mississippi, this campaign aims to educate gas users on the importance of recognizing gas leaks and sharing resources to help them take preventative steps through maintenance and inspection. This campaign emphasizes the importance of information and collaboration in ensuring the safety of every Mississippian. The Mississippi Public Service Commission urges all residents to stay informed, follow safety guidelines, and always prioritize safety first when it comes to gas.

“The safety of Mississippians is our top priority, and this campaign seeks to ensure that everyone has the knowledge and resources to protect themselves, their families, and their communities,” stated the Commissioners. “By working together, we are reinforcing the message that gas safety is everyone’s responsibility.”
